Portal 2

** This thread discusses the Content article: Portal 2 **

Portal 2 has been unofficially announced! On x-Play, Valve's Kim Swift inadvertently announced that Portal 2 is in the works!

"I believe Doug Lombardi, who is our lead marketing director at Valve, has announced Portal 2, so we can't wait!"

This "accidental" announcement might not work out well for Swift, but it works out well for us! Now the only question remaining is, will there be more cake?

Great news, it is a fun game to mess around with.

Another portal game was announced late last year, Prey 2.

Good news for us who love the portal type technology in games.

No, it was for the PS3 and PC as well.

I thought they said there would be downloadable levels :(

Would be nice if they added more levels in an update for PC and Downloadable pack for the consoles.

Don't be jealous just cause you don't have a 360 :P

Though I do wish I could get access to this downloadable maps :(

I have always agreed with this statement and will continue to do so for the foreseeable future. By the time a console catches up with current PC tech, the PC is already past it.

Did you know that the portal was first used as a practical joke. See this years game infarcer in game informer for more info.

works!

The problem is there may be several delays or vlue may go under or any other unfortunate event. Then we will be without fresh cake. And cake usually only last a couple of weeks (less if you live with someone else). And who wants food poisoning? Not nurta thats for sure.
